

INDIRECT OBJECT PRONOUNS

---

- You can use a pronoun instead of a person, or person's name, when that person is receiving the thing of an action.
  - Puede usar un pronombre en lugar de una persona, o el nombre de la persona, cuando esa persona está recibiendo la acción.
-

I gave some flowers to Susan.

Yo le di algunas flores a Susan.

I gave some flowers to my wife.

Yo le di algunas flores a mi esposa.

I gave six dollars to Tomás.

Le di seis dólares a Tomás.

I gave six dollars to the salesperson.

Le di seis dólares al vendedor.

I gave six dollars to him.

Le di seis dólares a él.

I gave him six dollars.

Le di seis dólares.

Gabriel bought a rose for Anita.

Gabriel le compró una rosa a Anita.

Gabriel bought a rose for her.

Gabriel le compró una rosa.

Sam threw the ball to Juan.

Sam le tiró la pelota a Juan.

Sam threw the ball to him.

Sam le tiró la pelota.

I brought shoes to Frank.

Le traje zapatos a Frank.

I brought shoes to my father.

Le traje zapatos a mi padre.

I brought shoes to him.

Le traje zapatos.

I brought him shoes.

Le traje zapatos.

I told José to open the door.

Le dije a José que abriera la puerta.

I told him to open the door.

Le dije que abriera la puerta.

I told José to open it.

Le dije a José que lo abriera.

I told him to open it.

Le dije que lo abriera.

